VOL. 1

TRAVELLING SHOW OF HUMOUR, MECHANISMS AND POETRY

A shared journey about movement and the search for new horizons. Three characters, as eccentric as they are endearing, travel the world in their old car. Along the way, they encounter a traveller, and their destinies become intertwined. Through mechanical contraptions, humour and visual poetry, the group moves forward in pursuit of the same horizon. But the road is not always easy, and a setback will put their hope to the test. A journey that explores the concept of species migration, where movement becomes an act of survival and togetherness.

URKO MASCHINEN

The company aims to take over the streets, creating moments of community and focusing on timeless, universal themes that connect with every audience member, regardless of age, background or context.

Championing a creative approach rooted in ensemble theatre, where the stage language emerges from collective work.

Urko Maschinen is a collective of five friends from different artistic disciplines, brought together by a shared desire to tell stories through street theatre, scenography, machinery and visual storytelling.

Through humour and visual poetry, the company creates captivating narratives, combining meticulous storytelling with evocative visual worlds.
